IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

President and Mrs. Roosevelt Entertain.

MISS GAFF TO BE WEDDED

Engagement to Dr. Cary D. Langhorne Announced—Mrs. Jackson's Friends Meet Miss Stanton—Hon. Maude Pauncfoote to Visit Mrs. Townsend in January.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at luncheon yesterday the British Ambassador and Lady Durand, Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, and Bishop and Mrs. Earl Cranston. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt have issued invitations for a dinner on Friday, January 11, which will be followed by a musical.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Gaff announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Zaldie Forsyth Gaff, to Dr. Cary D. Langhorne, U. S. N. No date has been fixed for the wedding, which will probably be an event of the early spring. Dr. Langhorne, who is now on duty in Washington, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Langhorne, of this city, and has been identified with District society from his boyhood.

His sisters are Mrs. Powell Clayton, Jr., and Mrs. Stanley Washburn, the latter a bride of the past month. Miss Gaff made her debut two years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Gaff, who came to Washington from Ohio several years ago, occupied the Barney residence on Rhode Island avenue for a season, but last spring completed a very beautiful house at Twentieth and Q streets, where they propose making their permanent home. The engagement of Miss Gaff and Dr. Langhorne, following so closely that of Miss Rachel Holmes and Mr. William Penn Cresson, is of particular interest to the younger set, as the brides to be are cousins, and made their debut in the same season.

Mrs. John P. Jackson entertained at luncheon yesterday complimentary to Miss Stanton, who lately arrived from Paris for a month's visit to her sister, Mrs. Lyman Tiffany. The decorations were entirely in Christmas colors, with poinsettia blossoms as their key note. The company included, in addition to Miss Stanton and her sister, Mrs. Randolph Clarke, Mrs. Courland Hopkin, Mrs. Platt Hunt, Mrs. Postlethwaite, Mrs. Robert Hineckley, Mrs. McGowan, Mrs. Stickney, Mrs. John P. Story, and Miss Woodhull.

Mrs. Gibson Palmestock, formerly of New York, who has taken a house on I street for the season, entertained there yesterday afternoon, when fifty or more guests were invited to hear Mr. Myron Whitney, Jr., in a song recital, and Miss Elizabeth Ames, of Baltimore, a particularly pleasing pianist.

Miss Marion Leutze, daughter of the commandant of the navy yard, gave an enjoyable tea for young people yesterday, when her friends were invited to meet Miss Amy Bowles, of California, who is visiting the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Metcalf. Mrs. Leutze and Miss Leutze were assisted in receiving by Miss Mary Southland and Miss Denny, with Miss Louise Maxwell, Miss Converse, and Miss Wells doing the honors of the tea-room.

The Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks will entertain at dinner this evening.

Miss Seaton Schroeder will present her youngest daughter, Miss Joanna Schroeder, at a tea this afternoon.

Hon. Maude Pauncfoote, eldest daughter of the late Lord Pauncfoote, for many years British Ambassador at Washington, will arrive from England for a two-month visit January 10, when she will be the guest for several weeks of Mrs. Richard and Townsend. Later, she will visit a number of other friends.

Commander and Mrs. Richardson Clover entertained at dinner last evening.

The details of the entertainment for the House of Mercy to be given at Raucher's Monday, January 14, have been completed with a programme of unusual attractions, including the first presentation in Washington of "In a Persian Garden," by the strongest quartet obtainable in Washington. The tableaux, in which a number of the younger belles will pose, are now being rehearsed. A French play, "Place aux Dames," which is short and clever, will be a part of the programme.

As a very full house is desired, all actresses interested in the success of the entertainment and advancement of the work of the House of Mercy are requested to refrain from entertaining

They will not go before next Wednesday, unless present plans are changed, but will spend Christmas Day in the White House. The President and his wife will probably remain at Pine Knot until Monday, December 21, when they will return here for the New Year's Day reception at the White House, a occasion upon which the President, according to time-honored custom, shakes hands with many hundreds of his fellow-citizens.

During the few days at Pine Knot, Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt will do a good deal of walking and riding, and perhaps some shooting.

WEDDED FIFTY YEARS AGO

Mr. Justice Harlan and Mrs. Harlan Celebrate To-day.

Golden Anniversary Will Be Attended by Many Relatives, and Guests Include Bridesmaids.

If one could turn back fifty years ago to-morrow and look at the society notes of an Evansville, Ind., paper, they would see an item something like this:

"One of the most beautiful weddings of the year was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Shanklin last evening, when their daughter, Melvina French, was married to Mr. John M. Harlan, of Kentucky.

"Mr. Harlan is well known throughout the county and has many friends living in Evansville.

"After the wedding ceremonies were over a large reception was held. The house was beautifully decorated and many guests were present."

It is the golden anniversary of this wedding that Mr. Justice Harlan and Mrs. Harlan will celebrate with a reception at their home on Euclid and Fourteenth streets this afternoon. It will be one of the largest social events of the season in Washington.

The receiving line will be long and in it will be women who acted as the three bridesmaids at the wedding fifty years ago. They are Mrs. Samuel Bayard, Mrs. James M. Shanklin, and Mrs. Ella Waymond, of Indiana. Mrs. Harlan will also be assisted by her family, grandchildren, and three sons. The sons are Rev. Dr. Richard D. Harlan, of Lake Forest, Ill.; James M. Harlan, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, of this city, and John Maynard Harlan, a lawyer of Chicago, Ill.

Soon after Mr. Justice and Mrs. Harlan were married they went to Frankfort, Ky., where Justice Harlan was practicing law, but when the civil war broke out they moved to Louisville, and Mr. Harlan left to join the Union army. After his return they moved to this city, in 1871, and have made Washington their home ever since.

Three daughters and three sons were born to them, and one son, James S., was born the day that his father was mustered into the government service, in 1861. Justice Harlan is one of the most popular men in the city of Washington, and is one of the most strenuous men in the United States. He has the reputation of having lectured to more lawyers than any other man in the country.

Every morning Justice Harlan plays a game of golf, regardless of the weather conditions, and seldom takes a car or drive to his office, as he prefers the exercise, which is one of the things that has done much to keep him in good health.

The members of the Harlan family who are in town for the golden wedding anniversary will remain until after the Christmas holidays.

EXCURSIONS.

Three personally conducted excursions to California are given weekly from this city via the Washington-Sunset route. Tourist sleeping cars are used for this service, affording accommodations well within the means of those who must count their expenditures, while Pullman coaches, dining, sleeping, observation, &c., are available for those with whom this is not necessary. Through berths in the tourist sleepers can be secured at very nominal cost. Several high-class winter tours, personally conducted, are to be made via this route this season. Information as to itineraries, cost, &c., may be had of A. J. Fyson, general agent, 511 Pennsylvania avenue.
